

This list of questions that covers the main costs incurred while running a restaurant. Go through them and answer them as honestly as possible. Whether you know the answers to all of them, some of them or none of them Lagatia's software has the capacity to provide those answers to everything on here and more.

Think of it like getting your drivers license. You have to pass a written exam as well as a physical driving test before you're allowed to operate a vehicle. With a restaurant there is no written test or even guild to opening and operating one. You secure operating capital, the individuals with the experience and expertise to run a successful business and plunge into the crazy world of the service industry.

The most important concept behind this list of questions is how much time, energy and most importantly "money in man hours" would you expend gathering all of this information?

Lagatia's goal is to provide all of these answers enabling you to save time and money.
